

Terry Lee "TJ" Friedl is a Major League baseball outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds. TJ made his Major League debut in 2021. TJ started his baseball journey playing with Roseville Pony Baseball in Roseville, California. His family then moved to Pleasanton, California where he starred at Foothill High School. After high school, he continued his journey with the University of Nevada Reno Wolfpack as a walk-on. He played sparingly his freshman year and then redshirted his sophomore year. His 3rd year on campus (red shirt sophomore) is when his career took off. As the everyday centerfielder, TJ hit .386 with 9 Triples. He then played summer baseball with the St. Cloud Rox of the Northwoods league where he made the All-Star Team. He was then invited to try out for the USA Collegiate Team. With only a handful of spots open, TJ made the team as he led the team in hitting during the 5 exhibition games. He then traveled with the team to play in Chinese Taipei, Japan and Cuba. Once completed with USA Baseball, TJ signed the largest United States born player free agent contract ever in the MLB with the Cincinnati Reds. In 2023, his first full season as the starting CF with the Cincinnati Reds, TJ hit .279 with 18 HR's, 3 Triples and 27 SB's.
